Macaroni Wheat.

It is announced that the United States Department of Agriculture will conduct a series of experiments in Western Texas in the growing of hard or macaroni wheat.

"Macaroni wheats differ radically from the ordinary bread wheats, and in the field look more like barley than wheat. The heads are flat, compressed and bearded, the beard often being black; the chaff is usually golden yellow, but sometimes black, and the grains are large, hard, yellowish white and clear, or, in wheats of the best quality, sometimes translucent. There are also occasionally velvet chaff varieties. In Europe they are known simply as hard wheats, or durum wheats. The grain is much harder than that of the hardest bread wheats, and in the best varieties contains an unusual amount of nitrogen and a correspondingly small amount of starch. The quantity and quality of the gluten make them exceedingly valuable for making macaroni. They are extremely resistant to drought, and resist the attacks of leaf rust and smuts to an unusual degree.

"On making actual trials of introduced varieties of these wheats the results obtained have abundantly confirmed the conclusion that they are well adapted to our semiarid districts. In 1898 several of the best Russian varieties were obtained by this department, and they have been under trial in cooperation with State experiment stations since that time. In all cases so far reported from the semiarid districts these have given results better in all respects than those obtained with standard varieties of the locality grown under the same conditions. At the South Dakota station in the discouraging season of 1900 they yielded about thirty bushels per acre when other varieties made out two to eight bushels. In North Dakota the yields have been several bushels per acre better than the best bread wheats. In Utah the average results for 1899 and 1900 were considered better than those of the other varieties. At all times the unusual yield and hardness of these wheats in districts subject to drought have been considered remarkable. The excellent qualities of macaroni wheats for semiarid conditions may be summarized as follows: (1) They are very resistant to leaf rust and smuts; (2) they are extremely resistant to drought; (3) they often ripen a little earlier than other spring wheats; (4) west of the one hundredth meridian they will yield an average of twelve to twenty bushels per acre in many places where wheat-growing is now practically an impossibility because of drought; (5) in the larger portions of the great plains region they will yield on an average about one third more per acre than the wheats ordinarily grown there.

In an interview with E. L. Cheek, he stated that he raised the Nicaragua wheat which is a wheat similar to the macaroni in Williamson county 20 years ago and made from 20 to 30 bushels per acre.

He says it is a regular dry weather wheat, has a very hard grain, heavy and of large size, but it is difficult to grind into fine flour.

The bread was a golden yellow color of fine biscuit taste and the women found that the flour made better bread without any grease.

RIPANS

.. CURE ..

INDIGESTION

A practical test of Ripans Tablets, in the majority of cases, is enough to make an earnest advocate of the user. "I am fifty years of age, a seamstress by occupation," writes a Jersey City, N.J., lady, "and have been troubled with that dreadful complaint, indigestion, for the last four years. I found no relief in medicine (although I tried many kinds) until I used Ripans Tablets. They have proved a perfect success. The first I used made me feel like a different woman. Oh, what a sufferer I have been. I was terribly troubled with nervousness; could not sleep nights. I had that bloated feeling after eating and faintness; and was also depressed, having no ambition; but now I am happy to say I have found relief in Ripans Tablets from all these ailments. I can highly recommend them and have done so."

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and restore life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no imitation. If 17¢ a box, 10 for $1.50, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 18 Spruce St., New York.

Horrible Accident.

Robert Mayse, aged 14 years, son of J. S. Mayse, was found yesterday afternoon in Dr. Martin's pasture about one and one half miles east of town, dead from two gun shot wounds just over his heart, caused by the accidental discharge of a gun in his own hands. The clothing caught fire, and the grass being high and very dry, caught fire from them, and when found the body was burned beyond recognition. He was identified by his gun and dog he had with him. Henry Huff and Dr. Martin, noticing the fire, went to it, and after putting out the fire the body was discovered. All the clothing was burned off and the body almost a cinder. His hat and cap box were found about ten feet from the body and his gun was under him, and the supposition is that when the gun went off he tried to go to the house of Joe Hall, about 150 yards distant, but fell when getting to the place where he was found; the cap box and hat being behind him and his body lay toward the house. Mrs. Hall says it was something near an hour and a half from the time she heard the shots till the fire was discovered. The gun was a muzzle loader and as both barrels were empty and two wounds in the body, it is supposed he had just loaded the gun, and the firing of one barrel discharged the other. He was alone and the particulars of course will never be known. His dog was guarding the body and refused to let anyone approach.

The authorities held an inquest, when the body was brought to town. He will be buried this morning. This is the most horrible accident that has ever happened in our town. —Brady Sentinel.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Cheek have just returned from a visit of two weeks' duration to friends and relatives in Nolan and Runnels counties. Mr. Cheek reports the farmers in pretty good shape, all seemingly well satisfied, but the stockmen are in a bad way. The cattle are poor and they are driving them to the Pecos country.

Quicksilver in Texas.

I will try and give you some items about the Terlicula quick silver mines. I have been there and seen what I am going to write about. Those mines are situated in the southern portion of Brewster county six miles this side of the Rio Grande river. There are over two hundred claims worked by different parties.

The principal owners are Anease and Bell Co's. These companies own 175 claims. I have talked with men who are experts in quick silver and they say these are the finest mines in the world. These two companies are lawing over the lines. These are 150 ft. in litigation this has put a stop to the work.

Bell & Co. have a pile of ore 30 ft. long 6 ft. wide and 4 ft. high, valued at $165,000. When that law suit is settled that will be one of the best mining districts in the world. There are coal, silver and gold there. Some very fine coal. When the Mexico and Orient R. R. goes through, this country can be divided. These mines are situated 85 miles south of Alpine, and one of the roughest countries God ever made, for twenty miles this side of the mines.

The whole country is in a de-caying state, ledges of rock extending 75 ft. up. Canyons are from 50 to 150 feet deep, walls are solid rock. In the summer the thermometer registers 120 in the shade, that is why work is slow and water scarce. The miners use water out of pot holes in the rocks, when that plays out they haul it ten miles from Terlicula creek. So you see there is many draw backs to the mines. If any one from this country should go to Alpine, it will pay to go down and see these mines, for they can see more than I can write. When I get back to that country I will write you how the mines are progressing.

Grass is plentiful with us this year. We have plenty of grass to share with our neighbors.

Grass and stock are finer than they have been for 10 years.
